- Shannon Brown's alley-oop dunk midway through the fourth quarter gave the Lakers a 28-point advantage (largest of the game).
- OKC was held to a season low 34 first half points on just 12-of-38 shooting (31.6%). Despite setting a season-high with 51 rebounds, OKC was outscored in the paint by a 60-44 margin.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS:

- During OKC's wire-to-wire victory versus WAS, the Thunder recorded 127 points on a season-high 44 made field goals. The 127 points scored in regulation (excluding OT) is the most scored in franchise history since a 127-98 victory over the Denver Nuggets on February 21, 2001.
- For the third time this season five Thunder players recorded 10+ points (2-1 record). For the second time this season three OKC players (Durant, Westbrook and Harden) scored 20+ points (2-0 record).
- OKC Rookie James Harden came off the bench to score a career-high 25 points on 8-of-11 shooting. He single-handedly outscored the Wizards bench (25-20). When OKC reserves outscore the opposing bench this season, the Thunder are 4-1. Harden is one of only two rookies this season to score 24-plus points in back-to-back games (Brandon Jennings).
- OKC outscored WAS 28-10 in fast break opportunities. In addition, OKC outrebounded their opponent (42-40) for the ninth time this season (7-2 record).
- Thabo Sefolosha posted a season-high 16 points while James Harden matched a team season-high with four steals. OKC matched a season-high with 14 steals.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS:

- After suffering a 28-point loss to OKC just ten days earlier, the Magic enacted some revenge during their 14-point win over the Thunder in Orlando. The Magic led by as many as 30 points in the second half and the 14-point loss is the largest suffered by the Thunder this season.
- OKC rookie James Harden recorded a season-high 24 points on 6-of-7 3-point shooting (4-of-4 in the 4th quarter). His six 3-point makes ties an all-time OKC franchise record for most 3-point field goals made by a rookie (Rich Frahm; 12/2003). Meanwhile, fellow OKC rookie Serge Ibaka pulled down a season and team-high nine rebounds in the loss.
- Magic forward Rashard Lewis came one assist shy of a triple-double as he finished with 17 points, 10 rebounds and nine assists. The Magic converted an OKC opponent-high 13 3-point fields goals (13-31; 41.9%)
- Kyle Weaver made his season debut. In 15 minutes, he recorded a team-high (tying) four assists to go along with 11 points on 4-6 FG's.
- ORL outrebounded OKC by a 47-42 margin. The Thunder is 0-3 this season when they are outrebounded by their opponent. ORL controlled the interior for much of the game as they outscored OKC 40-28 in the paint.

OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

Winning with D: Despite a 85-101 loss to the reigning NBA Champions in Los Angeles on Sunday night, the Thunder still ranks 5th in the NBA by allowing 94.1 points per game. The Thunder has held their opponent to 90 points or fewer in six-of-fourteen games this season (5-1 record in such contests). Oklahoma City also ranks 7th in opponent field goal percentage by allowing their opposition to shoot 44.1% (OKC ranks 4th in opponent 3-point shooting percentage; 30.3%). Defense is quickly become the trademark during Thunder victories this season. In the seven Thunder wins (SAC, DET, ORL, LAC, SA, MIA and WAS), OKC is allowing only 88.3 points per game on 41.4% shooting.

Harden Heats Up: After failing to record double-figure scoring totals during his first 11 NBA games, OKC rookie James Harden broke-out for three consecutive 10+ point games including back-to-back 24-point and 25-point performances this past week versus the Magic and Wizards, respectively. During OKC's win versus the Washington on Friday night, Harden came off the bench to record a season-high 25 points on 8-of-11 shooting as he single-handedly outscored the Wizard's reserves (25-20). In the Thunder match-ups vs. Orlando (11/18) and Washington (11/20), Harden connected on 10-of-13 3-point field goals including seven consecutive makes during this two-game stretch. The seven consecutive makes ties a rookie record for the most consecutive 3-pointers converted by a rookie since Michael Dickerson made eight straight for the Houston Rockets (5/4/99-5/5/99). His six 3-point makes at Orlando (11/18) tied a rookie franchise record (Rich Frahm; 12/20/03).

"D" is the Difference: This season the Thunder is allowing 94.1 points per game after surrendering an average of 103.1 points per game last season. If the Thunder were to maintain the current 9.0-point year-over-year differential, they be one of 13 teams over the last 20 years to improve their points-per-game allowed by nine-plus points. The Golden State Warriors (2003-04) were the last team to improve their points allowed differential by a greater margin than this year's Thunder team (9.6 point per game).

ESPN Picks-Up Thunder-Bucks: The start time for this Friday's match-up at the Ford Center between the Thunder and the Milwaukee Bucks will be receiving national attention as ESPN has decided to televise the game to a national audience. Due to scheduling with the network, tip-off has been pushed-back to 8:30 PM (previously 7:00 PM). The Thunder is scheduled to appear on ESPN again later this season when the Dallas Mavericks visit the Ford Center on December 16th.

New and Improved: Through the first four weeks of the NBA season, Thunder second-year guard Russell Westbrook has shown an improved all-around game. During his first fourteen contests, Westbrook is averaging 16.4 points, 7.1 assists and 4.8 rebounds in 34.2 minutes per game. Only a select number of NBA players have maintained such averages throughout the course of an entire season. Below is a list of those second-year players to average 16-plus points, 6-plus assists and 4-plus rebounds during their sophomore NBA seasons.

Second-Year Player Averages (last 10 years)
	Year	PPG	APG	RPG
Russell Westbrook (OKC)	2008-09	16.4	7.1	4.8
Chris Paul	2005-06	17.3	8.9	4.4
LeBron James	2003-04	27.2	7.2	7.4
Dwyane Wade	2003-04	24.1	6.8	5.2
Gilbert Arenas	2001-02	18.3	6.3	4.7
Steve Francis	1999-00	19.9	6.5	6.9

Road Warriors: With their win over the Heat in Miami (11/17), the Thunder won three straight road contests in the first month of the season. As a point of reference, the OKC franchise failed to win three consecutive road contests in each of the last two seasons. Last year, the Thunder won a total of eight road contests and it took OKC until February 28th (at MEM) before claiming their fourth road win. With a road record of 4-4, OKC is one of just nine NBA teams with a .500 or better road winning percentage.

Defending When it Matters: During the Thunder's 83-79 victory over the Los Angeles Clippers (11/11) at STAPLES Center, OKC held the Clippers to just 10 4th quarter points on 15.8% shooting (3-19 FG's). The 10 points surrendered in the 4th quarter is the fewest allowed since the 2006-07 season when the OKC franchise held the New Orleans Hornets to an all-time franchise low six 4th quarter points. Through the first 13 games of the season, the Thunder is limiting their opponents to 21.2 points during the final 12 minutes of regulation (3rd fewest in the NBA). In the seven Thunder wins, OKC opponents are scoring an average of 20.7 4th quarter points on only 35.9% shooting.

Youth Movement: The Thunder enters the 2009-10 season as the second youngest team in the NBA with an average age of 25 years and 130 days (as of opening night). They trail only the Memphis Grizzlies who boast an average age of 25 years and 92 days. Additionally, the OKC opening night (10/28) starting lineup (Durant, Green, Krstic, Sefolosa and Westbrook) was the youngest in the league with an average age of 23 years and 179 days. For a matter of comparison, the age of the average NBA roster is 26 years and 329 days and the oldest team in the league entering the 2009-10 season was the San Antonio Spurs with an average age of 29 years and 73 days. There are currently eight players on the Thunder roster age 23 or younger.

Filling up the Ford: The Thunder began the 2009-10 season right where they left off... with another sellout. Those that made up the capacity crowd of 18,203 on opening night (10/28) in Oklahoma City were greeted with a new and improved Ford Center. As part of a taxpayer funded initiative passed in March 2008, numerous arena improvements were recently completed. The Ford Center now boasts a state-of-the art scoreboard, new terrace suites and a courtside club to go along with a new and improved Thunder locker room. Last season, fans from near and far flocked to Oklahoma City to witness Thunder basketball. During the Thunder's inaugural season in OKC, the Ford Center recorded 18 sellouts (19,136) including eight consecutive to end the season. In 41 home games, the Thunder's average attendance topped the 18,700 mark (11th best in the NBA), accounting for an average capacity of nearly 98.0%. This season, the Thunder has sold-out four of their first six home contests.

First Impressions: With their 102-89 victory over the Sacramento Kings on October 28th, the OKC franchise secured their first opening night victory since 2003 when they defeated the Los Angeles Clippers 109-100 in Saitama, Japan. During the Thunder's wire-to-wire win at the Ford Center, Russell Westbrook set a career-high with 13 assists to go along with 14 points and seven rebounds. With his 13 assists, Westbrook single-handily matched the entire assist total for the entire Kings team. The last time an OKC franchise player matched the entire opposing team's assist total occurred in 2006 when Luke Ridnour handed-out 13 assists in a 110-106 defeat vs. the Portland Trail Blazers. With their most recent win versus Washington (11/20), the Thunder enters tonight's contest with a record of 7-7. Last season, the Thunder did not record their 8th victory until January 16th (vs. DET). After 14 games into the 2008-09 season, the Thunder posted a 1-13 record.

Early Returns: After recording double-figure assist totals nine times during his rookie season (2008-09), Russell Westbrook has already posted four 10-plus assist performances through his the first fourteen games this season. Westbrook, who currently ranks 8th in the NBA with 7.1 assists per game, has increased his assist total after averaging 5.2 apg during his rookie season. Oklahoma City is 4-0 this year when Westbrook records 10+ assists. Deron Williams, whom OKC will face tonight, increased his assist total by a 3.8 margin during his second NBA season (2006-07) as a member of the Utah Jazz.

KD En Fuego: Earlier this month, Thunder forward Kevin Durant had little trouble finding a way to be productive during a five-game, eight-day stretch. During this week long span (11/10 through 11/17), Durant averaged 32.8 points per game on 47.7% shooting. His 32.8 scoring clip was second in the league during this time behind only Bucks' rookie guard Brandon Jennings (37.3 ppg). Red-hot scoring streaks are not unfamiliar territory to Durant. Last season prior to his injury at Dallas (2/27), Kevin Durant found himself on a scoring tear seldom witnessed by a second year NBA player. In the 17 games prior to his injury (1/16 vs. DET through 2/24 vs. LAL), Durant posted a scoring average of 32.3 points per game. During this five-week long span, Durant led the NBA in scoring by a 2.4 point per game margin (LeBron James; 29.9 ppg). It had been 35 years since a second year player last averaged 32+ points across a 17-game span (Bob McAdoo; 34.7 ppg during the 1974 season).

Technically Speaking: With two (individual) technical fouls called through the first fourteen games of the 2009-10 season, the Thunder continue their run of being one of the fewest "T'd-Up" teams in the league. During the 2008-09 season, 11 individual technicals (excludes defensive technicals) were whistled on Thunder players and coaches. This total was the fewest awarded to any NBA team during the season. In addition, the Thunder committed 31 total technical fouls (includes individual and defensive 3-second technicals) which tied for the fewest in the NBA (San Antonio). This total also represents the fewest "T's" committed in the NBA since the 1997-98 season (Golden State; 22).

Perfection from the Stripe: During OKC's loss to the Sacramento Kings (11/10), Kevin Durant recorded a game-high 37 points in large part due to his efficiency from the charity stripe. Durant set a franchise record by converting 18 made free throws without a miss. Setting all-time franchise records from the free throw line is not unfamiliar to Durant. Last season versus the Los Angeles Clippers (1/23/09), KD converted 24 made free throws (on 26 attempts) en route to a 46-point performance at STAPLES Center. Durant's 24 made free throws set a Thunder franchise record. In addition, Durant set a NBA season-high for most FT's made during the 2008-09 season. In doing so, Durant became one of only four players over the last 20 years to convert 24+ FT's in a single game (MR; LeBron James: 24-of-28 on 3/12/06).

Let the Balloting Begin: Thunder forward Kevin Durant, forward Jeff Green and guard Russell Westbrook all appeared on the 2010 NBA All-Star Ballot which was unveiled earlier this month during a special tip-off event in Dallas, the Official Host City of NBA All-Star Weekend 2010. Voting will take place at all Thunder home contests at the Ford Center for games played between Sunday, November 15 vs. the LA Clippers and all the way through Oklahoma City's match-up with Indiana on January 9th. The Thunder trio can also be voted-in via online balloting at thunder.nba.com which begins immediately and continues on through January 18. The 2010 NBA All-Star Game will be played at Cowboys Stadium in Arlington, Texas, before an expected crowd of more than 80,000 – the largest group ever to witness a live basketball game, on Sunday, Feb. 14, 2010.

Back-2-Back Sets: With their game in Orlando on November 18th, the Thunder closed-out the third of 18 back-to-back sets this season. OKC secured splits in each of their first three back-to-back match-ups this year. So far this season, the Thunder is 2-1 on the first night of a back-to-back and 1-2 on the second night. Last season, the Thunder posted an 8-28 record in their back-to-back pairings (3-15 in first game, 5-13 in second game).

Lots of Magic at the Ford Center: During the Thunder's 102-74 victory over the Orlando Magic on November 8th, OKC held ORL to 30 second half points on 29.4% field goal shooting (10-34 FG's). The 28-point margin of victory represents the largest Thunder win in Ford Center history. In knocking-off last season's Eastern Conference Champions, the Thunder shot a season-high 57.1% while handing-out a season-best 27 assists. Meanwhile, Orlando shot a season-worst 36.8% while converting a season-low 25 made field goals. Orlando was held to fewer than 75 points for just the third time in the last three-plus seasons. With the victory, the Thunder notched their third win of the year. It was not until December 19th of last season (vs. TOR) before the Thunder would claim their third win.

What Lazy Days of Summer?: The Thunder was the only NBA team to participate in multiple summer leagues this past off-season. Seven players currently on the Thunder roster saw action in the Orlando Pro Summer League (July 5-10) and the NBA Summer League in Las Vegas (July 10-19). Thunder second-year guard Russell Westbrook and OKC Rookie James Harden were both named to the 2009 Orlando Pro All-Summer League First-Team. In addition, Thunder forward D.J. White received second-team honors for his performance in Orlando. In four Orlando Summer League contests Westbrook posted averages of 22.3 points (.519 FG%), 3.5 rebounds and 7.8 assists in 32.3 minutes per game. Harden, the No. 3 overall selection in this past summer's NBA draft participated in a total of nine summer league contests and recorded averages of 14.7 points (.506 FG%), 3.3 rebounds and 2.4 assists in 27.9 minutes per game.

Country First: The OKC trio of Kevin Durant, Jeff Green and Russell Westbrook were all invited to participate in the 2009 USA Basketball Men's National Team mini-camp held in Las Vegas this past July. In preparation for the 2010 World Championships and the 2012 Olympic Games in London, USA basketball hosted the three-day event which included an intra-squad Blue vs. White scrimmage on the final day. Thunder Head Athletic Trainer, Joe Sharpe was also invited to participate in the Team USA event.

Summer Oversees: Both Nenad Krstic (Serbia) and Thabo Sefolosha (Switzerland) spent the summer months representing their counties as they competed in the 2009 EuroBasket Championships held in Poland. While Sefolosha and Switzerland participated in the Division B bracket, Krstic helped lead the Serbia team to the Championship Game vs. Spain in the upper Division A bracket. In nine EuroBasket contests, Krstic posted averages of 13.4 points, 4.8 rebounds and 1.6 assists in 23.4 minutes per game. Meanwhile, Sefolosha played in four games for the Swiss team and compiled averages of 15.8 points, 6.5 rebounds and 3.3 assists in 37.3 minutes per contest.

Race to 3,000... and Beyond: During the Thunder game in Phoenix on February 20th of last season, Kevin Durant etched his name into the NBA record books by becoming the second youngest player (behind only LeBron James) to record 3,000 points in league history. With his 35 points versus the Suns, Durant reached the 3,000-point plateau in only 134 games. Durant will look to surpass the 5,000 point mark during the 2009-10 NBA as he currently sits with 3,874 career points scored.

Durant Dazzles: Through his first two NBA seasons, Kevin Durant has already proven that he is one of the elite scorers in the game. Durant, the NBA's 6th leading scorer last season, averaged 25.3 points in just his second season removed from the University of Texas. He became the NBA's 5th second-year player in the last 20 years to average better than 25 points per game.

NBA's Top Second-Year Scorers (Last 20 Years)
Kevin Durant (OKC)	2008-09	25.3
LeBron James (CLE)	2004-05	27.2
Vince Carter (TOR)	1999-00	25.7
Shaquille O'Neal (ORL)	1993-94	29.3
David Robinson (SA)	1990-91	25.6

Not "Two" Shabby: After two seasons in the NBA, Kevin Durant boasts a 22.7 scoring average, the fifth highest career average for any second year player in the modern era (dating back to 1989). Only Shaquille O'Neal (26.4), David Robinson (25.0), LeBron James (24.1) and Vince Carter (22.9) posted higher career scoring averages after their first two NBA seasons.

Young Guns: During the 2008-09 season, the Thunder registered a majority of their scoring from either first or second year players. In fact, OKC rookies and second year players combined to score 4,780 of the 7,952 total Thunder points. This total represents 60.1% of the OKC points scored, the highest percent of any team in the NBA during the 2008-09 season. The last team with a higher percentage of points coming from rookies and second year players occurred during the 1997-98 season when the Boston Celtics received 68.7% of their scoring from a young team which included the likes of Antoine Walker, Ron Mercer, and Walter McCarty.

Oklahoma City	60.1%
Memphis Grizzlies	50.3%
Los Angeles Clippers	39.9%
Miami Heat	38.9%
Houston Rockets	32.0%

Sophomore Studs: At the end of last season, second year players Kevin Durant and Jeff Green combined to average 41.8 points per game. The last pair of second year teammates to average a higher total was Allen Iverson and Jerry Stackhouse for the Philadelphia 76ers who more than a decade ago combined to average 44.2 points per game during the 1996-97 season.

Lots of Big Nights: During his second NBA season, Kevin Durant filled-up the scoring column with regularity. At the end of the 2008-09 NBA season, Durant recorded 20 or more points 57 times including 30 or more points on 21 occasions. These totals place KD among some elite NBA company.
